

VENICE COMMUNITY RESILIENCY COMMITTEE (AD HOC)

Introduction/Mission

The mission of the Venice Community Resiliency Committee (VCRC) is to develop whole community planning and preparedness programs to further ensure the survival and recovery of the Venice community in times of disaster or proclaimed emergency.

The VCRC serves as an AD HOC Committee until the Venice Public Safety Committee (Steering Committee) Chair is appointed and activates that committee and incorporates the VCRC as a sub committee or June 30,2025, whichever occurs first.

We are looking for community members to work with the VCRC to refine and implement the attached strategic plan. You need not be a disaster expert to join just willing to contribute your abilities and learn from others. If working to ensure Venice can sustain itself in a disaster and recover sounds worthwhile please contact Keith Harrison at: keith.harrison@venicenc.org, or call him at 310-740-6718.
